President's Message

Where did this year go? 2007 is coming to a close quickly. It does not seem possible that I have been serving as president of this chapter for almost six months. I thought serving as president was going to be a burden, but it has been a joy. I have met many wonderful people who are dedicated to the profession. The members of the DeKalb Chapter have given me encouragement and support, and I appreciate it. I encourage other members of our chapter to serve as officers or on a committee. You will not regret it.

Jim Martin did an excellent job at the October meeting with the compilation and review update. He will also be speaking at our eight hour A&A CPE seminar on December 15, 2007. If you have not registered, please do so soon. We need to know how many people to prepare for. Contact Callaway Dorsey at 770-908-9193.

It is time to nominate the next recipient of the William D. Gladney service award. The award is for any member who has gone beyond the requirements of his/her duties or beyond expectations associated with any position held by him/her. Attached is a nomination form for you to use to nominate a person that you feel deserves the award. Please complete the form and turn it in at the November 27 meeting or fax it as instructed at the bottom of the form.

Our next meeting is November 27 and it should be special. Daniel Morgan with Synovus Trust Company will be speaking to us. He was recently interviewed on MSNBC's market summary. Mike O'Neal, the funniest accountant, will be on hand to make us laugh. Please plan to join us. I hope you have a happy Thanksgiving.

William D. Gladney Service Award

Georgia Society of CPAs
DeKalb Chapter
William D. Gladney Service Award
Nomination Form

At our January 22 meeting, the William D. Gladney Chapter Service Award will be presented to the member of the DeKalb Chapter of the GSCPA who has gone beyond the requirements of his/her duties or, if not an officer, beyond expectations associated with any position held by him/her.

Doug Gladney was a valued and respected member of our Chapter until his passing in July of 2002. He volunteered to perform tasks behind the scenes, always made it a point to welcome newcomers to the chapter, and gave very unselfishly of this time and resources. We could always count on him to be present at any chapter held event. He didn't do this for recognition, but to ensure that our chapter continued to prosper. He served the GSCPA at the state level, and kept chapter members aware of current issues and ideas. We show our appreciation for his hard work and dedication by presenting this service award in his name each year to a deserving Chapter member.
