Chris Treanor's presentation this evening will be: "Business Intelligence – making better decisions faster by converting data into information – a rational approach to management."

Speaker Information:

Chris Treanor has been with RoseBud Technologies since 2003. He is responsible for the definition, planning and implementation of software based solutions that meet the client's needs. This is more challenging than traditional development since solutions are often a "homogenized" combination of Microsoft products, third party software and expertise provided by RoseBud Technologies. These solutions are characterized by improvements in Collaboration, Business Intelligence, Data Analysis, Information Distribution as well as Sales and Marketing activities for our clients. Prior to joining the company Chris received his Masters and Ph.D. in Instructional Technology from Georgia State University in Atlanta. At the same time he designed and implemented internal training and education systems for several large companies in the Atlanta area including Cox Communications, Randstad North America, and MCI WorldCom. Chris has been published several times and is a highly regarded leader in the Instructional Technology community. Chris and his wife have been married since 1994 and have one child.
