

High School Residency Program

The High School Residency Program (HSRP), now in its eleventh year, hosts over 100 students and will be held at two locations this summer: Georgia Southern University (GSU) and the University of Georgia (UGA). In order to keep the HSRP free to all participating students, sponsorship is vital. Presentations from representatives of national and local accounting firms, industry, and local government demonstrate the exciting job opportunities available in accounting. Students also get hands-on experience through accounting case studies and computer classes. The program introduces students to college life by hosting them in the dorms, attending classes, and eating in the dining halls. Sponsorship is a great way to introduce your firm/company to the future leaders of the accounting industry and contribute to their success.
